PREFACE

TO MY MANY FLOWER-MINDED FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS.—The past two years have amply demonstrated what I had been thinking for some time—that most of my customer-friends were sufficiently familiar with most mum varieties not to require a descriptive catalogue. Consequently, this year I will only publish my variety list, with an occasional word or two in the case of new or not well-known varieties. I am sure that just as in the past two years all my surplus plants will go early in the season and I will have the rest of the season to work with my own mums in my own garden to my heart's content.

Blooming dates are very much desired by most people who grow mums outside (as most of my customer-friends do), and I have included them. However, they are approximations only and I have leaned over backwards in trying not to convey the wrong impression as to blooming dates. If there is any error it will be that the variety blooms earlier (not later) than the date I have given. In figuring blooming dates for your locality, remember the blooming date advances as one goes north and recedes as one goes south. For instance a variety in full bloom here will not reach a similar stage in New Orleans until a week later. This should enable you to adjust the dates to your locality.

Delivery will be made this spring—from the last of March on, and will consist of small “plants”—not “rooted cuttings” that require potting up and growing on some time before they can be set in their permanent location. My plants can be set in their permanent location outside promptly on arrival. They will be shipped bare root, wrapped in damp moss and then carefully packed in excelsior.

I realize quite well that there seems to be a “racket” in the mum business—often a person will order certain particular varieties, state very specifically that only the varieties ordered are desired, care for them so carefully during the hot summer, and then have them bloom out inferior varieties that fall. It is sad to relate, but true nevertheless, that some growers will ship one's order correct as to label—BUT woefully wrong when it comes to blooming. Nature seems to have unintentionally aided in this “racket”, as with few exceptions it is impossible to tell one variety from another in the plant or cutting stage.

Nothing makes me madder than to be duped in such a manner (and I have often been so duped), and I have resolved to make my little mum business unique in that you will get what you order, or if you permit substitution, to correctly label the plant I ship. Most of my business now is repeat orders—so that policy must be appreciated by discriminating flower-friends.

To carry out this policy it is necessary that I personally gather, label, pack and ship each order myself (which necessarily limits it to a small volume), and in return I would appreciate a postcard stating the condition of the plants on arrival, as well as any suggestions you may have towards improving my packing methods. (I have received some good suggestions from customers).

However, being human, an occasional error will occur, and in such cases I would prefer to know about it—rather than be judged guilty of deliberate mis-labeling.

Now this careful packing takes TIME, MATERIAL and STAMPS for parcel post, as all small orders will go forward by prepaid parcel post (Large orders at special prices will go by express, COLLECT). To cover this expense I am asking each customer to add $.50 to the total of the order when the same is $5.00 or less to cover transportation and packing costs. In cases where the order runs from $5.00 to $10.00 please add $.75 to the order, and $1.00 when the order amounts to more than $10.00. I practically always include a few plants gratis with each order, so you will be well repaid for this small additional charge.

If interested in quantity, most standard and not-too-scarce varieties can be furnished in lots of 25 and multiples thereof of one variety at around 12½ cents each, but please write me first the varieties you want and how many of each, before you order as some varieties are slow propagators and I could not supply them in quantity at any price.

Now about the English Chrysanthemums we are hearing so much about these days; it seems they came over from England to western Canada a few years ago, and from there spread over the United States. Even as late as 1941 few varieties were outside the State of Washington. Since then, however, they have moved fast—and with ever increasing popularity in the central and northern states. This popularity is largely due to the unusually early blooming of these varieties—they bloom well in advance of the ordinary large-flowering varieties. Naturally I tried some, and while I found them very good, as a general rule they are not as large as many standard varieties that can be grown outside in the southern tier of states. Hence I make the prediction that while they may become very popular in the central and northern states, they will not replace the truly “large-flowering” or “football” varieties grown in greenhouses, and in the deep South in the open garden. Owing to their earliness they do fill a distinct need farther north, and I am listing a few of the more dependable varieties—may list a lot more next year if they prove OK, and to help me reach a fair decision please let me know how your English Mums turn out this year—1947.

During my over 15 years experience in dealing with the public I have found only rare instances of dishonesty—practically all people who grow flowers are scrupulously honest, but in order to protect myself in these rare instances I wish it distinctly understood that I give no warranty expressed or implied, as to description, quality or productiveness of any plants I send out.

With the above explanation and under the conditions stated, I am offering limited quantities of the mum varieties listed within.
